IMMOVABLE PROPERTY TAX BILL, 2019

(Bill No. 23 of 2019)

OBJECTS AND REASONS

This Bill seeks to provide for a law to impose an annual tax on immovable property owned by non-Seychellois.

The Bill is divided into 6 parts.

Part I provides for preliminary matters, such as short title, commencement and interpretation.

Part II deals with the administration of the Bill, whereby the Commissioner General will administer and enforce the proposed law. It also provides for the appointment of valuation officers who will be responsible for the valuation of immovable property.

Part III provides for the imposition of the immovable property tax. All non-Seychellois who own immovable property are liable to pay an annual tax to the Commissioner General. Some non-Seychellois will be exempted from paying the tax. This Part also sets out, amongst other things, the date that tax will be imposed, the tax rate and the method of calculating the annual tax.

Part IV deals with Registration and Valuation. All non-Seychellois who own immovable property in Seychelles are required to register their ownership of any immovable property with the Register General irrespective of whether the non-Seychellois is exempt from paying tax. From this register, the Commissioner General will then prepare an annual register of taxpayers. The onus is on non-Seychellois to make and submit a valuation of their immovable property used for residential purposes and multi-purposes building in the form prescribed by the chief valuation officer. The valuation standard for immovable property is its market value. This Part also gives the valuation officers powers to make valuations where non-Seychellois have failed to do so.

Part V provides for the recovery of tax, complaints and appeals. The Commissioner General can rely on the provisions under the Revenue Administration Act, 2009, with respect to the payment, collection and recovery of the immovable property tax. Where a valuation officer makes a valuation of immovable property and a person is aggrieved by the valuation, the person can make objections to the Commissioner General. The Commissioner General will make a decision on the objections. A taxpayer dissatisfied with an objection decision may apply to the revenue tribunal or courts in accordance with the Revenue Administration Act.

Part VI provides for miscellaneous matters. A taxpayer cannot transfer, surrender or lease immovable property unless the tax is paid. A certificate of tax clearance from the Commissioner General is evidence that the tax is paid. A penalty will be imposed on any person who obstructs an authorized officer in the performance of duties under this proposed law. Also, the Minister has the power to make regulations on all matters which by this Act are required or permitted to be prescribed.

Schedule to the Bill sets out the form of the certificate of tax clearance.
